W.A. AUSTIN INDEPENDENT NOMINEE

A joint meeting of the Liberals and Conservatives of the Didsbury Constituency was held at Sunnyslope on Friday, May 23rd, for the discussion of the political affairs of the province and to find out if it would be advisable to run a candidate against the U.F.A. Nominee, Mr. A. B. Claypool. The convention is said to have been the largest of its kind seen in the riding and after some discussion two men were nominated to run as an independent candidate against the U.F.A. nominee. Of these two, Mr. W. A. Austin of Didsbury was unanimously elected as a candidate to contest the seat on an independent ticket.

The following officers and executive committee were appointed: H. W. Chambers, chairman, Didsbury; C.E. Rehber, secretary, Didsbury; committee, J. J. Greenan of Carbon, J. Klem of Acme, D. P. Hays of Carstairs, E. C. White of Sunnyslope, A. C. Fisher of Didsbury, Dr. Elliott of Swallow and AM Poyle of Hesketh.

A number of prominent Liberals and Conservatives of Carbon were present at this convention.

Mr. Austin is a comparatively young man and is well-known in the vicinity of Didsbury and the surrounding towns. He carries on the practice of Law in the town of Didsbury and comes before the people well-recommended. According to officials of the Convention Mr. Austin will give Mr. Claypool a close run in the Didsbury Constituency, and it is expected that active campaigning will commence at once.

The following is clipped from The Carstairs News regarding the proposed Convention:

"Prompted by the growing feeling of discontent with the present Provincial government, and the desire for

DISTRICT RECEIVES GOOD RAIN OVER THE WEEK-END

A very needful rain fell in the Carbon district Sunday morning and evening and as a result the farmers have again taken another "Lease on Life." The terrific wind storms last week were responsible for quite a bit of the grain in the district having the roots left bare by the soil being blown away, but the rain will help to restore this and bring the crops along in fair shape.

ALL CANADA WILL HEAR SPEECHES OF LEADERS

Radio will provide the most radical departure in campaigning in the approaching federal election.

More than two million people, from the international line to the northern tundra will be able, when the campaign is actively on, to tune in nightly on one or another of the prominent figures in either of the old parties to hear at first hand a much more complete presentation of the issues than it is possible to gather from necessarily condensed reports.

There will be national hook-ups for both the Premier and Mr. Bennett and there will be provincial hook-ups for them and their chief lieutenants. There will be local broadcasts in every unsettled section of the Dominion.

What the effect will be upon attendance at public meetings remains to be seen. There is, of course, no substitute for personal contact between political leaders and the public whose franchise they seek, but the radio is the most personal of mediums apart from actual contact.

Newspapers and out-door advertising campaigns are in course of preparation and the statement is repeated at both party headquarters that the best informed electorate in the history of Canada will go to the polls on election day.

THIRD GOV'T CROP REPORT

During the first week of the past fortnight the weather was generally clear with slightly higher temperature prevailing. Local rains occurred in the Southern and Eastern parts of the Province. High winds were of frequent occurrence and some damage resulted due to soil drifting.

On May 20th a heavy wind swept over the central portion of the Province particularly from Olds to Lacombe and eastward, doing damage to crops sown on summerfallow. In the Edmonton district the wind was followed by rain and snow, the greatest snow being reported from the area lying North of Edmonton, though not extending to the Peace River District. A large area to the South and East of this city received a supply of very much needed moisture. At present all parts of the Province report sufficient moisture for immediate needs. Frost has done considerable damage to the trees, shrubs and early garden plants but only slight damage to field crops.

All wheat is seeded and 75 per cent above ground. Oat seeding is complete with the exception of oats for green feed, and barley is 75 per cent sown. Growth is slow but the grain is of good color and establishing a good root system. The crop has gone in early and having sufficient moisture for germination is away to a good start.

All spring rye and 90 per cent of sugar beets is seeded. There is a slight increase in the area devoted to sugar beets.

Weeds are unusually bad in early sown fields. Slight damage is reported due to wire worms and cut worms.

Correspondents generally agree that an increased acreage has been sown of sweet clover, alfalfa and grasses. Hay and pasture crops are making excellent growth and livestock is progressing favorably.

Men are always complaining that they don't understand women but the women seem to have no trouble in understanding the men.

WE HAVE NOW INSTALLED AN UP-TO-DATE

BROWN LABEL
AT ALL GROCERY STORES*A Hobby Essential To Life

Every person, old or young, should have a hobby.

And why a hobby? Because a hobby means an interest beyond the mere task of making a living and because an interest is necessary to the enjoyment of life.

Life without interest would be a dull, prosaic affair. Yet there are some people who keep their noses to the grindstone day after day, year in and year out in a dull routine to provide the wherewithal to feed, clothe and shelter themselves and their dependents, without a let-up from daylight to dark. They never look around for some interest which will serve to brighten their lot and bring joy into their lives.

There are, of course some men who are fortunate enough to have found in their vocation that keen zest which an outside interest gives to others, but it has been found by age-long experience that even such happily circumstanced individuals can and do pursue their work with better results and with greater contentment and less wear and tear when, to their work, they add a hobby.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" has been quoted so often that it has become platitudinous. Yet it is just as true today as when it was first uttered.

When the child puts his books away and closes his school desk for the day, he proceeds to enjoy himself with games and recreation in some form or another and in this manner revivifies himself for another day at scholastic tasks. Educationists have discovered that the child who plays in season brings to his school work an enjoyment which enables him in the long run to outstrip the pale faced bookworm. He has a balanced and therefore a happy existence and this reflects favorably upon his studies.

And so with the adult. But in place of flying kites or indulging in boisterous play, the grown up carries his enthusiasm into the field of some sedate, but just as stimulating amusement. It matters little whether it be collecting postage stamps, indulging in politics, plying saw and hammer or engaging in some form of academic study, so long as it is something which arouses the interest of the participant and whets his appetite for more; and so long as it is something different from the daily task.

It is this creation of interest which acts as a stimulus to the mind or a recuperative power to the physical being. It is at the same time restful and invigorating. This is why the individual with a second string to his bow, even if it be only used for recreational purposes, is more likely to make a success of life than one without it. He is able to turn again to the serious work of making a living with the hope and joy which comes with a buoyant spirit, a rested body and a clear, refreshed mentality.

It is impossible to pursue a hobby without securing these results, provided it is kept within reasonable bounds, for recreation broadens interest and interest means life. Interest with existence is life. Life without interest is mere existence.

The time to develop interest is in youth. It is too late to wait until the pains and penalties of advancing years are taking their toll and forcing retirement from active work. The individual who waits until he is obliged to slacken the traces on which he has been pulling heavily for decades before looking around for an interest will find he faces an old age of misery, for he has developed nothing to which he can turn to make his declining years worth living.

The youth, the middle aged, the old, of both sexes should have a hobby and should develop a hobby in comparatively early life.

For hundreds of years Eve has taken her clothes from the wool of sheep and the skins of animals, but now she has gone one better—she is to wear the scales of fish.

Soon the smartest Eves will shimmer like mermaids. A firm at Berlin has at last patented a process by which fish scales can be used as a coating for various fabrics. Among many advantages is that the new material has a remarkable power of keeping out heat.

It is intended, also, to use a coating of artificial pearl on thin oilskin coats. These latest rain-proof garments will be light and completely waterproof, and when wet they will have a beautiful pearly glitter.

The discovery that fish scales could be used for this novel purpose was more or less accidental. Scientists were endeavoring to improve the process by which artificial pearls are made when they stumbled across the new idea.

After several attempts they found a method of washing, drying and grinding fish scales which produced a fine crystalline powder. This is mixed with a solution of artificial silk in collodion, and can be painted thinly over the oil skin.

The answer to the question, "What's in a name?" seems to be clearly defined as the result of a questionnaire recently sent out by a firm of book publishers in an endeavor to ascertain what sells books.

The 10,000 replies received to date show that only 199 purchased the books because of their titles. More than 3,450 sales were attributed to reviews; 2,460 to advertisements and so on through the recommendation of a friend, reputation of the author, bookstore display, interest in subject, gift, lecture or sermon, with the title at the bottom of the list.

HOUSE UNITED IN ENDORSING PENSIONS BILL

Ottawa, Ont.—The government and the opposition united in expressing appreciation for the work of the parliamentary committee on pensions, when the bill to amend the pensions act was before the House of Commons in committee. The bill is to give legislative effect to the recommendation of the pensions committee decided upon after a lengthy enquiry into the claims of organizations of returned men for more generous treatment. The bill passed the committee stage quickly, and was then given third reading. It now goes to the senate.

When he arose to explain the bill Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Pensions and National Health, praised the work of the committee. He felt that not only would the returned men, but all the people of Canada, be pleased with the work which had been accomplished and highly appreciative of the untiring efforts of the members of the committee. The report of the committee had been unanimous.

The bill revises the machinery for dealing with appeals of soldiers from the pensions board. It provides a veterans' bureau to prepare the cases for soldiers. An important change gives a veteran the advantage when there is a reasonable doubt as to whether his incapacity was due to war service.

Congratulating the committee on the patient consideration and expert knowledge brought to this important question, Hon. R. B. Bennett said its members were entitled to the thanks of the nation. The committee was composed of men with first hand experience of soldiers' problems. He especially praised the chairman, C. G. Power (Liberal, Quebec South).

No difference of opinion existed among Canadian people, the Conservative leader declared, as to the pensions problem. They wanted a measure of generous compensation to all those who had risked their lives for this country. It assured the returned man the country was behind him, said Mr. Bennett.

There was nothing partisan in the bill or in the methods by which the committee had worked.

He will consult with the railway commission and find out exactly if Crow's Nest Pass rates automatically apply to the new route. If not, he will initiate action to bring the Bay route under the Crow's Nest agreement.

Considering Reverse "Rhodes Scholarships"

Would Permit English Boys To Attend Canadian Universities

Toronto, Ont.—Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, announces the establishment of a reverse "Rhodes Scholarship" is being considered by a committee of educationists to permit English boys to attend Canadian universities.

Dr. Cyril Norwood, chairman of the party of English schoolmasters which recently visited Canada, strongly advocated such an exchange of students, stressing his wish to see English boys specialize in economics and science. In praising the idea, Chancellor H. P. Whidden, of McMaster University, said, "I consider the point by Dr. Norwood, that Canada offers opportunities in the scientific and economic fields is well taken. One would hardly expect English students to study classics here when such excellent facilities are offered at Oxford."

Gen. C. H. Mitchell, dean of the faculty of applied science of the University of Toronto, termed the scheme of "Reverse Scholarships" practical and feasible.

Conciliation Board To Settle Dispute

Dockers At Vancouver Wish Alterations In Renewal Agreement

Ottawa, Ont.—A labor dispute involving 1,100 water front workers in Vancouver and district is to be settled by a board of conciliation under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor, announced. The parties involved are the Shipping Federation of British Columbia and some of their employees who are members of the Vancouver and District Waterfront Workers' Association.

The men wish the renewal of the agreement with the employers covering wages and working conditions which expired November 30, 1929, with certain alterations. Two members of the board of conciliation have already been appointed; R. B. Pirie, of Vancouver, on the recommendation of the employees, and J. E. Hall on the recommendation of the employers.

Mr. Heenan is awaiting word from these two board members as to the selection of a third member who will act as chairman.

Change Will Assist Trade

Canadian Tariff Gives Many Advantages To British Manufacturer

London, England.—Hon. W. R. Smith, parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade, said in the House of Commons, the changes in the Canadian tariff would affect business operations in a great many sections of the export trade of Britain. Every effort was being made to assist manufacturers and traders to take advantage of their new opportunities, he said. While the department of overseas trade believed no practical purpose could be served by such a conference it would be glad to adopt the proposals of particular groups if they felt that consultation would be useful, he concluded.

People Interested In Veterans' Allowance Act Says Major-General MacDonnell

Ottawa, Ont.—Criticism of the plan to appoint the commission to administer the War Veterans' Allowance Act wholly of returned men was made by Major-General A. H. MacDonnell, a member of the Senate committee investigating the bill. Dr. J. A. Amyot, Deputy Minister of the Department of Pensions, informed the committee it was the intention to appoint veterans to the committee.

General MacDonnell did not contend that returned men could not fill the offices, but he believed the general public should be represented as well. County judges could be utilized, he suggested, and they would bring to the committee experience that the majority of returned soldiers lacked.

Toronto Man Killed When Parachute Fails

Was Making First Attempt To Jump From Airplane

Toronto, Ont.—Attempting his first parachute jump from an aeroplane, Kenneth Burgess, Toronto, was killed when the parachute failed to open. The aeroplane was at an altitude of 1,500 feet when Burgess jumped. The unopened parachute caught on a tangle of telephone wires, hurling him into the ditch. He was alive when picked up and a doctor was summoned, but he died a few minutes later.

The aeroplane was a Colonial Airways machine, which left the company's field near Dufferin Street in North York Township.

Burgess is survived by his widow and two children.

Suggest Advisory Board

Commission Would Help To Solve Problem Of Immigration

Ottawa, Ont.—Establishment of a permanent advisory commission on immigration, on lines similar to the tariff board, was one of the many suggestions dealing with the immigration problem at the annual meeting of the Canadian Political Science Association here. The suggestion was made in a paper by Prof. W. B. Hurd, of Brandon, Man.

In his opinion the regulation of immigration was a matter for scientific economists and sociologists, rather than politicians. A commission could make a continuous examination of employment and social conditions throughout Canada and could give expert advice to the governments on the number and type of immigrants which could profitably be admitted. Persons interested in securing immigrants for any district would have to make application before the commission adducing evidence of an economic rather than a sentimental character.

Naval Agreement Is Attacked By Admirals

Places Their Navy In Inferior Position Say U.S. Officers

Washington, D.C.—Two more admirals told senate committees that the London naval treaty would leave the United States in a position of inferiority.

Rear Admiral J. V. Chase, of the General Board, said the pact did not represent parity with Great Britain, and had many other flaws from the viewpoint of a navy man.

Although he was an adviser at the London conference, Rear Admiral J. R. P. Pringle said, he was consulted but once by the United States delegation. He advised the delegates against the cruiser arrangement they finally accepted.

Japanese Immigration

Ottawa, Ont.—Two hundred and thirty-four Japanese immigrants have been admitted to Canada since September 1, 1928, up to the end of the last fiscal year, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons. Of these 130 were males, and the balance females. Fifty-eight were agricultural workers, and 56 were domestics. The remainder were children. Only 50 Japanese are permitted to enter Canada annually.

No Press Men On Dirigible

London, England.—The only press information that will be given respecting the R-100 flight across the Atlantic will be that kept by Wing Commander R. B. B. Colmore, who will release it on the craft's arrival in Canada. On the return trip Canadian and British newspapermen will be carried.

NEW TARIFF ON FRUITS IS TO BE AMENDED

Ottawa, Ont.—Amendments will be introduced to a number of items in the tariff resolutions affecting fruits and vegetables. Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, announced in the House of Commons. The changes will apply to products which under the new schedule have ad valorem as well as specific duties. The specific will be made to apply only in those seasons of the year in which foreign importations come in competition with Canadian grown fruit and vegetables.

The announcement of the finance minister was greeted with applause by the Conservatives who expressed the opinion that he had become a convert to the seasonal tariffs they had been advocating.

When the uproar had quieted, Mr. Dunning explained that the decision to limit the specific duties to certain seasons instead of the entire year had come as a result of conferences with the fruit and vegetable growers. They had expressed willingness to co-operate in this connection. He could not promise that the seasons would suit all the growers from the Atlantic to the Pacific because of the many differences as to the dates when such products are marketed here, but an attempt had been made to deal as fairly as possible with all.

The House spent the entire day on budget resolutions, and some progress was recorded. The tea item, as amended by the budget, was finally approved. Under this item tea produced in the British Empire enters Canada free under the British preference, and is subject to duty of nine cents, intermediate, and ten cents, general.

Approval was also given to the resolution which declared that excise duties or taxes shall be disregarded in estimating the market value of goods for special duty, when these commodities come in under the British preference, or intermediate tariff. The resolution passed, however, only after protest by certain Conservative members that the Canadian silk industry would suffer through the admission of Japanese silks.

Ask Amendment Of Criminal Code

Christian Scientists Want Clause Introduced For Their Protection

Toronto, Ont.—A despatch from Ottawa to the Toronto Star, says that in a bill introduced by the government to amend the criminal code, a change has been made at the request of Christian Scientists, in three sections, which deal with the obligations of heads of families, people in charge of the sick, and masters and mistresses of servants and apprentices under sixteen. It is explained the purpose of the section is to permit Christian Scientists to practice their beliefs without fear of prosecution.

The new sub-section which is suggested for the criminal code in this regard is as follows:

"Any obligation which may be involved in this or the two preceding sections to supply medical or surgical attendance as 'necessaries,' or 'necessaries of life,' shall not apply to, or affect persons using or depending on prayer or spiritual means for the treatment of human ailments as an enjoyment or exercise of religious freedom."

Special Stamp Issued

Melbourne, Australia.—During a short and intensive campaign to assist the appeal of the prime minister of Australia, Hon. James Henry Scullin, for the growing of more wheat this year, the postal department has issued a special cancellation stamp bearing the words: "Grow More Wheat."

French Troops Leaving Rhineland

Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Germany.—Evacuation of the Rhineland has been officially started in this sector of the third zone of occupation. Heavy artillery, pioneer equipment and columns of troops are moving toward France in the final exodus which will strip the Rhine of French soldiery.

Jolly Beggars Broadcast Joy

"The most truly poetical of all Burns poems," said Thomas Carlyle, "is one which does not appear in Currie's edition, but has been often printed before and since, under the humble title of 'The Jolly Beggars.'"

With music revised, arranged and orchestrated from the edition of 1818 (harmonized by Bishop), by M. Wood Hill, in collaboration with J. Campbell McInnes, "The Jolly Beggars" was presented as a ballad-opera by the Alfred Heather Light Opera Company, in the Canadian Pacific Railway's programme of music from station WJZ and twelve associated stations of the National Broadcasting Company, from 9.15 to 9.45, Eastern Daylight Saving Time, on Sunday, May 18.

The following artists took part in the programme: J. Campbell McInnes as "the Narrator" (Robert Burns); Finlay Campbell as "A Maimed Soldier"; John Detweiler as "A Tinker"; Mrs. Davies Wynne as "The Widow of a Highland Freebooter Poosie Nancie"; Alfred Heather as "A Bard and Ballad Singer"; and Jean Haig as "The Soldier's Lass." The first song of this opera is of special interest as containing a reference to Canada; "When the bloody die on the Heights of Abram," referring to the battle between Wolfe and Montcalm.

The editorial policy of "The Chronicle"

this, and as a local newspaper is for

CHAUTAUQUA DOES COMMUNITY WORK

If the Chautauqua that is coming to Carbon on June 4-5-6-7 does nothing else for a community, it is good for one thing. It brings the people together to work for one common good.
This is especially so in Carbon, where it seems that the merchants and business men cannot pull together and obtain a fair profit for themselves. Instead they are cutting one another's throats and getting nowhere. With the Chautauqua in town it has been different. When the Chautauqua meeting has been called there is usually a fair turn-out and when the Chautauqua is over and the guarantee has been signed for another year, most of the business men of the town fix their signature to the document without hesitation. We hope that this state of affairs will continue and that the Chautauqua will be signed up for another year. We also hope that the disease (if it may be called that) of community effort will in time change the minds of our business men and that they will get together and pull together for one common good, their existence in business in Carbon with a thriving trade, which they cannot hope to achieve as long as they try to carry on without co-operation.

ADVERTISE THE TOWN

No business man in any place should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere. It does not mean that you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page adv., but your name should be mentioned if you do not use more than a two-line space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in the town by looking at a paper. This is the best possible town advertiser. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The life of the place depends on the live, wideawake and liberal advertising man. — American Banker's

EDMONTON-CALGARY AIR LINE
-SEEMS ASSURED

Presence of D.M. McLean and Kingsley Rose, of the Royal Canadian Air Force, in the district between Calgary and Edmonton, is viewed in aviation circles here as the first step of postal authorities towards the establishment of a north-south air mail service between the two cities. McLean and Rose, it will be remembered, selected sites for emergency landing fields and beacons on the routes of the cross-prairie air mail service last autumn.

While no official statement is forthcoming, it is believed that the officers are engaged in a survey of the district between the two cities with a view to selecting emergency fields and beacon sites similar to those on the east-west routes.

They are expected to arrive in Edmonton within the week.

THE LAST MONTH OF SCHOOL

The following valuable hints for mothers should be made note of as the pressure of examination time draws near. Failure to pass exams is often the result of poor health, a fatigued mind in a depleted body. Do not let the boys and girls burn the candle at both ends or a nervous breakdown will be the result.

How to Pass Exams—Keep the child's energy up to par by special attention to his diet. Begin each day with a substantial breakfast of fruit, cereal, milk or cocoa, and toast, also the occasional egg.

Rest periods are important and of real value after the noon lunch and before the evening meal. A happy un-worried mental attitude is essential when settling down to homework. Cultivate confidence in the child's mind and courage to tackle his problems.

A quiet place to study and a peaceful sympathetic atmosphere at home will give the best environment. See that supper is a good meal of satisfying and lasting quality. Lastly, sleep long, with the windows open, going early to bed every night for the month of June.

In short, see that your child follows the teaching of the Junior Red Cross Health Rules if you would have him up to the mark.

Lawyer: "And where did you see him milking the cow?"

Witness: "Just a trifle behind the centre, sir."

GLENN TRYON HAS ANOTHER PATENT SCREEN DOO-FLICKER

Another of the famous Glenn Tryon patents is used for hilarity purposes in the comedy star's newest Universal production, "The Gate Crasher" which will be screened at the Carbon Theatre on Friday and Saturday of this week.

This time the world is rocked by the invention of an automatic bill poster which posts everything from "Twenty-four" sheets to "half" sheets. Amateur inventors the world over marvel at these uproarious gimeracks which add so much to the fun of a Tryon vehicle.

To work this bill poster Tryon merely sits in his truck and pushes a button. The paste is applied to the sheets and a brush and roller put them in place.

In preceding photoplays Tryon has employed various risible-arousers such as the Goober-gun for eating peanuts, a novelty hotel register and pen, an automatic bell hop which takes baggage to your door, an automatic windshield cleaner and dryer, an energy saving taxicab and countless gagging gadgets.

The amazing thing about these inventions is that they are practical in use but impractical to make and market because of the prohibitive cost. Tryon and Director William Craft are personally responsible for most of the inventions.

Tickled Him

Tramp: "If you please mister—ha! ha-ha!"

Gentleman: "What do you mean by standing there laughing like that?"

Tramp: "Well, sir—ha! ha! he! he!—your door mat—ha! ha!—is ticklin' me feet through the holes in me boots!"

Wrecked Motorist opening his eyes: "I had the right of way, didn't I?"

Bystander: "Yeh, but the other fellow had a truck!"

Wife: "Are all men as stupid as you are?"

Husband: "No, my dear; look at all the bachelors there are."

College Girl: "I'd like my salary raised next week."

Harried Business Man: "You'll be lucky if I can raise it this week."

Fritz: Dad you are a lucky man. Father: How is that?

Fritz: You won't have to buy me any school books this year. I have been left in the same class."

A traveller once visited an old Boer farmer, and in displaying his goods, showed him a looking glass.

The old man had never seen one before, and as soon as he saw his reflection he exclaimed, "Why, this is my dear old father."

Seeing that he was so entranced with it, the traveller gave it to him and the "old father" was locked in a drawer, which every day or so the old man opened to fondle the glass.

Now, his wife was very curious to know what was in the drawer, but she could never find the key. But one day she spied it, and eagerly opening the drawer found the mirror.

"Oh," she said triumphantly, "So that's the cat he looks at, is it?"

THE ANAEMIC GIRL

Who Has Lost Her Charm and Beauty

"She seems to be losing her looks." This remark is often heard about girls who were once noted for their sparkling eyes, their rosy cheeks and their vitality. The cause is not far to seek—they have become anaemic; that accounts for the pallor and the loss of charm. The anaemic girl, if she neglects her health, may be a sufferer all her life.

Take heed, you pale, anaemic girls. Plenty of fresh air, nourishing food and rest will help you, but what you need most is good blood. Those wretched headaches; that fickle appetite and those terrible heart palpitations can only be banished if the blood is rich, red and pure.

Good blood—the kind that brings good health is created by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The whole mission of these Pills is to build rich, red health-giving blood. The Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

New Use For Wheat

Light Crop Can Be Made Profitable By Feeding To Poultry

With the present uncertainty which prevails in the wheat market the Dominion Department of Agriculture finds that farmers are paying more attention to the marketing of grain crops through live stock. Some important and interesting results have come to light, and not the least interesting is the experience of an Alberta farmer who had a light crop which he could not sell at the elevator. He had a flock of poultry and started feeding the wheat to them and marketing it in the form of eggs through the local egg pool. When the winter was over he figured up his costs and found that he had sold the wheat thus fed at an average price of $5 per bushel. Another western farmer with a modest flock of 150 birds kept his family throughout the winter on the income from the eggs, and he states that his gross income for the winter from the flock averaged $200 per month.

Plan To Encourage Community Progress

Canadian National Railway Will Give Prizes For Competition

Plans which seek to provide a substantial contribution to the encouragement of community progress and development, and the attainment of the fullest possible measure of Canadian citizenship by those rural communities in Western Canada which are of European origin, have been developed by the Canadian railways according to an announcement just made by Sir Henry Thornton from the head offices of the railway company at Montreal.

These plans initiated and developed by Dr. W. J. Black, director of the Departments of Agriculture and Colonization, of the National System, involve the carrying out of a series of competitions among such communities in the three provinces, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, to be held annually for a period of five years, for which one set of three prizes will be awarded in each province each year. These prizes will be substantial, the first being $1,000, the second $500, and the third $250, and they will be awarded on the understanding that the money be utilized in community work of some progressive nature. It is planned to have the competitions commence this year.

The Departments of Agriculture and Colonization, of the National Railways, will assume the responsibility of conducting the competitions, but hearty co-operation and support in the carrying out of the entire scheme has been offered by various departments of the provincial governments which have chiefly to do with matters of rural community progress and welfare. Leading men and women in western life also intimated that the project has their support and approval. For the judging of the competitions in each province, a committee of three outstanding citizens will be selected.

It is proposed to confine the competitions to rural municipalities, or groups of school districts within municipalities in which the population is made up of people of continental European origin, first or second generation. It is recognized that the interest which these people take in co-operating to make effective the policies of such departments of government as have to do with agriculture, education and public health, may be regarded as an index of the people to the advantages of what the Dominion provides towards influencing their status as good citizens. It has, therefore, been decided that emphasis shall be placed upon the things which these departments regard as of greatest importance.

Consideration will be given to such matters as percentage of school attendance, efficiency of the school, percentage of young people attending secondary schools, colleges or universities, evidence of interest in matters relating to public health and social welfare, percentage of membership in farmers' organizations, such as the co-operative marketing pools, agricultural societies, women's institutes, etc., and evidence of general progress towards improvement of agriculture methods, throughout the particular community or area involved. Special consideration also will be given to evidence of community interest in music, arts and handicrafts. In respect to all this, the competitions will take into consideration the full calendar year and awards will be made at the end of each year. In discussing the project, Dr. Black said: "It is recognized that the people in a great many of the communities of European origin in the prairie provinces of Canada, have been showing an exceedingly fine interest in making full use of the facilities and influences which our Canadian institutions provide in agriculture, education and otherwise. It is the desire of the railway company, in undertaking to direct these competitions for a period of five years, to give encouragement to such communities as are showing a determination to make use of and emphasize to the fullest extent the best that our country provides in the development of citizenship."

CONTRAST BETWEEN FAITHFULNESS AND SLOTHFULNESS

Golden Text: "Well done, good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy lord." Matthew 25:21.

Lesson: Matthew 25:14-46.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 40:1-8.

Explanations and Comments

The Commission Received, verses 14, 15.—The situation as regards the Kingdom of Heaven, said Jesus in His parable of the Talents, is comparable to that of a man who, about to go to another country, calls together his servants and delivers to them his goods. In the interpretation of the parable, the "man" represents Christ; his "goods," all possessions—life, physical and mental powers, etc.,—which are represented as God's property, entrusted to men, His servants, as a loan.

The Commission Carried out, verses 16-18.—The one who received five talents lost no time, but straightway went and traded with them, and made other five talents. In like manner he that received two talents doubled them. But he that received the one talent went away and hid it in the earth. It was a common practice in the East to bury money for safe-keeping, but his lord wanted increase as well as safety.

The Faithful Ones Rewarded, verses 19-23.—After a long time the lord returned and made a reckoning with his servants. The one who doubled his five talents he recommended in these words: "Well done, good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things."

The Slothful One Punished, verses 24-30.—"Lord, I knew that thou art a hard man" (austere man, Luke 19:21), said he who had received one talent, "reaping where thou didst not sow, and gathering where thou didst not scatter." He uses proverbial expressions for an unscrupulous, grasping man. It is "all work and no pay" in his lord's service, his lord "takes all the increase and gives the laborer no share in the reward," he thus says. "And I was afraid," he continued, "and went away and hid thy talent in the earth; lo, thou hast thine own."

"Thou wicked and slothful servant!" exclaimed his lord. "You called me hard, I call you a churl.—A. B. Bruce. "Out of thine own mouth will I judge thee, Luke 19:22. If thou knewest this, thou oughtest to have put my money to the bankers, and at my coming I should have received mine own with interest."

The Judgment, verses 31-46.

London's Privilege

A privilege which belongs to the City of London is that its maces and its swords may be carried upright. This privilege was granted to the city in 1354, and where other corporations slope their maces and their swords, the City maces may be carried upright, and the City swords generally are so borne, in the same way as the State sword is borne before the King, as an emblem of sovereignty.

Planning New Dirigible

British R-102 Will Be Faster and Larger Than the Others

Britain shortly will build a third giant dirigible for regular trans-Atlantic service, it became known.

The ship will be called the R-102; the others being the R-100 and R-101. It is to be larger, faster and more economical than the others.

The plans for the R-102 were said to be in the hands of the designers.

London's Moving Stairways

Will Be Speeded Up To 150 Feet a Minute

The moving stairways connected with London's famous underground railways are to be speeded up. At present this speed is 90 feet per minute. Experiments are being made with a stairway travelling at 150 feet a minute. Regular passengers who nip on and off the escalators with agility, would be glad to have them go faster, but the many who still regard them as perilous innovations will be more inclined than they are now to use the omnibuses.

Miller's Worm Powders are the medicine for children who are found suffering from the ravages of worms. They immediately alter the stomachic conditions under which the worms tem, and, at the same time, they are subside and drive them from the system in their effect upon the digestive organs, restoring them to healthful operation and ensuring immunity from further disorders from such a cause.

As the Scots Said

The news that Weihaiwei is being relinquished by Britain, to China may recall to a few old-timers Punch's cartoon of more than thirty years ago, showing two aged Scots engaged in the following dialogue: First Scot—"Ah see wa hae Weihaiwei." Second Scot—"Hae we?" First Scot—"Aye, we hae."

Deadly War Weapon

A new war weapon is being constructed secretly in England. This is a giant airplane torpedo, operating without a crew, its engine and course controlled by clockwork and its hull a mere receptacle for bombs. The control is set and on arriving at the appointed moment, the engine stops and the machine crashes to earth with its deadly load.

CHAPTER XIV.—Continued

A year before there had been talk of building a main schoolhouse in the center of the town; but the plan had been abandoned because so many of the children came from farms outside the village that it would have been necessary to send a bus to collect them, and the old way seemed easier. Thus Charmian began her duties as teacher in the very room where she began her school days nineteen years before. The small, brick building was unchanged save for an impressive sign over the door which read, "Lincoln School." This replaced the battered, weatherworn board that had designated "District Four," and was a concession to the daring souls who declared that district schools had, "gone out of fashion," and that Wickfield would be a laughing-stock

"Your Vegetable Compound is a good medicine. Anyone who is in poor health should not hesitate to try it. When I was taking the Vegetable Compound I tried the sample Liver Pills I found in the package. I have taken them every night since and I can feel myself improving. I am so thankful for the good they do me that I have told several women about it."—Mrs. G. W. Postliff, 263 Huron St., Stratford, Ontario.

to the entire country unless some change in its educational system was made.

"You'd think to hear 'em talk," raged Deacon Purdie, who always flared into speech at any mention of spending money, either by the town, himself, or one of his neighbors, "that we folks that went to the old schools ain't eddicated! I guess what was good enough for us is good enough for the smart Alecks that folks is raisin' these days. I caught that Eldridge boy makin' a—a disgraceful—er—gesture at me the other day!"

"If he'd caught all the people who would enjoy doing the same thing," grinned Jimmy Bennett when Grandma related this piece of gossip, they'd reach from here to the district school that he's so keen about! The darned old hypocrite!"

But this time the deacon's faction had triumphed.

"If it hadn't," said Grandma regretfully when Charmian told her that the coveted "job" was landed, "it would be a sight easier for you, child. You'll have to start the coldest part of the day to walk that distance. It makes me shiver just to think about it. I wish Ed Purdie had to walk it for you. He'd soon change his mind about whether young folks deserve a better school building!"

"Now don't begin worrying about next winter," laughed Charmian. "I dare say the exercise will do me good. I don't get half enough as it is now."

It was the first of August when Charmian was notified of her appointment. Other events followed quickly on its heels, the most astonishing of all being the Sunday morning when Deacon Purdie surprised the congregation by walking proudly into church followed by the blushing Luella (wearing the much-talked-of yellow beads) and her six little olive branches.

"I feel sort of responsible, chuckled Gam Garfield, who had stopped in after divine worship to talk the matter over with Grandma Davis. "I laid it on so thick about the cost of settling the thing by law, that I guess Edgar decided it would be cheaper to get hitched. Anyway, they went over to Eastboro yesterday afternoon and tied the knot. I haven't heard what bribe he used to make Luella change her mind, but she was simpering enough this morning to please any one."

"He might at least have given the wedding fee to Mr. Merry," complained Grandma. "What was the idea of going clear to Eastboro?"

"Search me!" replied the little lawyer, throwing out his hands in an expressive gesture. "Maybe luck. Mr. Merry performed the last two ceremonies, and the brides up and died on him, as Lizzie Baker says. Anyway, Grandma, that lets you out of any trouble. Now that he's nothing to gain by it the deacon will never let it be known that you got the better of him in a deal."

Grandma laughed as she glanced from the window.

"Here they come now!" she exclaimed excitedly. They must have gone to meeting the long way 'round, for I've been here every minute since breakfast and never laid eyes on 'em before. It looks sort of like a bridal procession, Gam, with all those children attendants. My stars! I should think even Luella Moore (and she's a fool if ever there was one), would know better than to give her babies such a stepfather. I pity the poor little things; but I suppose their mother is counting on Edgar's joining his other wives in Kingdom Come, seeing he's so much older, and then she'll come into the Purdie property. Just look at how Edgar struts! He did the same when he married Emma Dodd, but with Carrie and Eva he was sort o' drooping, they not being so handsome as his first. I don't suppose you know if Luella got on a new dress, Gamaliel?"

The lawyer shook his head.

"That's beyond me; but here comes Charmian and the doctor. Perhaps they can supply the missing details."

He arose as the girl and her companion entered, and said triumphantly: "I beat you to it, Charmian! Skipped out as soon as I decently could and made a home run with the news. We've just been watching the bridal party from the window."

"Doesn't it beat all?" cried Grandma. "Did Luella have on a new dress, dearie? It looked to me like her old blue made over."

"I can't say," laughed Charmian. "I was far too thrilled watching the bridegroom to have any eyes left for Luella's raiment. The children spilled over into the Merry's pew, Grandma, but they behaved well."

"I saw their new papa give one of 'em a dirty look when she dropped a hymn book," proclaimed another arrival who proved to be Jim Bennett.

"I got that, too," declared John Carter. "I wonder if any one in church can remember the text," he added with a quiet laugh. "The center of attraction was certainly not the minister."

"Well," said the old lady, "I've no doubt that Mr. Merry understood and made allowances. Probably he had considerable trouble keeping his own mind on the sermon. Mr. Merry is real human if he is a minister. Did you know if Luella had a new dress, Jimmy? I'd admire to find out."

"Mother said it was an old one, fixed up," replied Jim glibly. "Guess Edgar sprang the ceremony on his love so suddenly (considering their recent quarrel), that she didn't have time to visit her modiste."

Charmian giggled, while the doctor reproved her by saying: "I'm shocked at your levity, Miss Davis. This is a serious matter—to Luella."

"I'll say it is!" said Jim; and added, with a glance at the lawyer, "and it's cost you a good case, Gam. I'm surprised you should let such an opportunity slip through your fingers."

"It was a sacrifice on my part," replied Gamaliel, sighing. "I did it, Jim, to save an old friend from getting into trouble."

"He's joking," nodded the old lady, "but there's a sight o' truth behind the joke. You'll get your reward in the next world, Gam, if you don't here. He's referring to a business transaction I had with the deacon, Jimmy," she explained. "I presume Charmian told you about it at the time."

"She did," grinned Jim. "My sole regret is that I wasn't behind the door with these precious eaves-droppers."

"Same here," asserted the lawyer, rising. "I'd have given ten dollars for the privilege of a front seat. Well, Grandma, I must run along or be late to dinner. All's well that ends well, and so long as Luella thinks she's adorning her beauty with some costly product of the Orient, why no harm's done. You going my way, Jim? I'll give you a lift."

"You're a dandy matchmaker, Grandma," remarked John Carter, as the callers departed and he took the chair beside her.

"Matchmaker!" echoed Grandma indignantly. "If I thought I'd had anything to do with giving those Moore children such a mean stepfather, I'd never rest easy in my grave. There goes George K. and Selina. They're waving. A nice couple if ever there was one, and successful, too. Selina can wear a silk dress every day if she wants to; but when they were married George K. was just beginning at the bank and earning less'n ten dollars a week. Now he's president, and his three boys all went to college and are a credit to him and their mother. One of 'em writes poetry, and gets it printed in the magazines. I've always thought that if Charmian had more time she could be a writer. Once she wrote a real pretty piece about—"

"Grandma Davis!" reproved Charmian from the doorway. "I forbid you to boast about my youthful literary efforts. The subject is painful, and I haven't a doubt that the doctor wrote better ones himself in his early days."

"I can't vouch for comparisons," smiled the doctor, "but in my twelfth year I produced a masterpiece that caused a riot in the family. It began:

"The sun was setting o'er the battlements.
It shone on ladies and on gents. . . ."

"It was a ballad, dealing with love and covering six pages. My mother treasured it for years."

"Of course she did," said Grandma seriously, though her lips twitched. "Don't giggle so, Charmian. You'll turt the doctor's feelings. Is dinner ready? I feel hungry after so much excitement; and I presume Lizzie Baker'll be over soon as she eats."

Little Helps For This Week

"Commit thy works unto the Lord, and thy thoughts shall be established."—Proverbs xvi. 3.

When first thy eyes unveil, give thy soul leave
To do the like; our bodies but fore-run
The spirit's duty. True hearts spread
And heave
Unto their god as flow'rs do to the sun.
Give Him thy first thoughts then; so shalt thou keep Him company all day, and in Him sleep.

—Henry Vaughan.

Every morning before we cross our threshold, before we make a single plan or appointment for the day, we must give ourselves unto our Father's business. We are not, as we sometimes do, to determine what we will do, and then devote it to God, but we are first to devote ourselves to God, and ask Him what we shall do.—Alexander McKenzie.

SAYS BRITISH ARE VIGILANT OF ALBERTA OIL FIELDS

British capital is watching Alberta's oil industry with extreme vigilance but is inclined to await discovery of crude oil on a substantial basis of production, according to E. H. Cunningham Craig, prominent geologist, whose name is associated with major oil development in the British Empire. Mr. Craig recently arrived in Calgary from England for his annual visit to Alberta fields on behalf of Canadian companies for which he is consultant and various British interests.

Regarding the possibilities of developing a large crude producing industry in Alberta, Mr. Craig reiterated previous statements that crude areas will be discovered within the boundaries of the province.

"In fact," he said, "several promising areas should be known before the close of the year from the present rate of activities in wildcat fields."

"As soon as crude production reaches a substantial basis," he said, "you will find British capital readily disposed to participate in development and expansion. While in some sections one detects efforts to discourage interest in Canada's oil development, it would be almost natural to assume that important groups are seeking to participate."
